

Young Food Writer of the Year Competition 2021

Help us find the food writers of the future and nurture your child's writing skills. Does your child/children like talking about food, cooking and experimenting? If so this is the perfect competition for them and the Easter holidays is the ideal time to get creative. The Guild of Food Writers and The Week Junior are delighted to announce the only national Young Food Writer of the Year competition is now open for 2021.

be in with a chance of winning, children need to write a short story around the theme of "Food Discovery". They can explore the theme in any way they want. To find out more about word count, judging criteria, top tips and prizes visit:

<https://theweekjunior.co.uk/fooddiscovery>

Closing date is 30th April 2021. Good luck!